Professional Baseball Scouts of SoCal to Host a Star Studded Weekend at Angel Stadium

The Professional Baseball Scouts of Southern California (PBSSC) will host the annual Jesse Flores All Star Game outfitted by Under Armour and local awards dinner for achievement in professional baseball November 11, 12 at Angel Stadium in Anaheim.

This annual event is organized by the PBSSC and is designed to honor local players and scouts excelling in professional baseball, and identify potential pro prospects in the annual all star game. Several players who have participated in the PBSSC awards dinner and all-star game have gone on to accomplish great things at the major league level over the past four years. Past award winners and participants include: Evan Longoria, Ricky Romero, Mike Stanton, Ian Kennedy, Mike Moustakas, Jared Weaver, Tyler Chatwood, and Freddy Freeman just to name a few.

Scouts representing all 30 teams from Major League Baseball have formed a selection committee to identify the premiere talent and projectability of the players participating in the All Star Game outfitted by Under Armour. HallPass Media will capture behind the scenes action from the PBSSC events and feature highlights on www.elitebaseball.net and www.hallpassnetwork.com.

Weekend festivities begin with the sold out awards reception Friday November 11th, 6:30pm at the Diamond Club at Angel Stadium followed by the Jesse Flores PBSSC All Star Game outfitted by Under Armour, November 12th, first pitch 3pm. Game tickets are $10 for adults, $5 for students, $20 family pack available at the door.
